Re: CILEx Level 3 Diploma in Law and Legal Skills (QCF)

To whom it may concern,

Lincoln Law School has reviewed the documentation relating to the proposed module and is of the view that this is a practical module with the necessary academic rigour to be equivalent to an A level. In our view it will be a useful alternative to A level Law.

I can confirm that as a Higher Education Institution, the University of Lincoln will recognise the following qualification as partly fulfilling the entry requirements to some of our degree programmes in related subject areas, and accepts it conjunction with other qualifications at the same level:

Yours faithfully

Simon M<sup>c</sup>Caffrey
